TELLER'S QUESTION

WHICH ALDRICH WRIGGLED ABOUT A VOTE TO BE FORCED SOON

And the Bill Will Probably Pass by One Majority-But There Are Hopes that Some Republican May Vote Right.

WASHINGTON, January 23 .- [Special.]-There was little excitement in the senate

The debate on the cloture rule occupied the entire day. Senators Cockrell and Gray made splendid arguments against the infamous rule, which provides for the cutting off of debate on any measure when a majority of the senate so desires. The republicans had practically nothing to say, as there is no possible argument to justify such high-handed proceedings as they seem determined to carry through. They simply sat silently by and allowed and democrats to consume the day in argument against the

Teller Catechises Aldrich. The chief incident of the debate was the pointed manner in which Schator Teller made Senator Aldrich show his hand. Mr. Teller inquired of Mr. Aldrich, as chairman of the committee on rules, how long a time was to be given to the debate? He made the inquiry because he desired to submit some remarks on the question.

Mr. Aldrich said he had been hoping to get the floor to request the senate to fix some time tomorrow or Monday, when a vote would be taken on the resolution and amendments. Mr. Cockrell asked Mr. Teller his reason for asking the question. Mr. Teller said that there was a rumor (which he supposed had reached every one) that there was to be a stage in the proceedings on the resolution at which debate was to be cut opportunity to proceed beyond that. He desired to speak upon the resolution, but was not prepared to do so now, even if he could get the floor. That was the reason why he made the inquiry. He supposed that the senator who had charge of the matter did not make a pretense of denying that there was to be a new and dangerous plan adopted for the purpose of bringing debate on the resolution to a close-what the French called a coup d' etat-by which the senate was to be rought up, all at once, to vote upon the resolution, whether the senate was ready to vote

Mr. Reagan said that he had also a little to say on the proposed rule, which was to revolumethods of proceeding in the

Mr. Gibson asked Mr. Teller what was the necessity for the proposed rule if the senator from Rhode Island could, arbitrarily, by a majority vote, cut off debate? Could he not answer the first question. He was not himself able to understand the distinction. Of arse he had heard, several times, that it vas their constitutional duty to fix but it was just r constitutional duty proceed on the election bill and dispose of it. He did not care now, however, to discuss the question. He merely wanted to get some idea as to when the debate would close. Somebody, under the new theory, had to say when the debate was to close. Heretofore it was a majority of the senate that did that. Now it appeared that the power was to be turned over to somebody else. He had not inquired who that somebody was to be. It was quite immaterial to him. But he should like to know when the plan was to be put in force and the debate terminated. Mr. Aldrich presumed that there was no necessity for him to discuss hypothetical questions. He took it for granted that there could be no closing of debate on the resolution, except by the action of the senate itself. No individual could arbitrarily assume functions which could only be exercised by the senate acting in its own capacity. Therefore, he did not care to cross any bridge, imaginary or otherwise, in the case suggested by the senator from Colorado, until he reached it. But he now asked unanimous consent that the debate shall close on the pending resolution and amendments and a vote be taken tomorro afternoon at 5 o'clock.

TELLER INTERROGATES ALDRICH.

Mr. Teller asked Mr. Aldrich if he (Mr. Teller) had misstated his (Mr. Aldrich's) purpose. He did not pretend to have it officially, but it seemed to be well understood in the capitol and was stated in the newspapers and everywhere that there was to be an arbitrary closing of the debate. He did not suppose that the senator from Rhode Island was sensitive about that statement or would dispute it. He (Teller) wanted to know when it was to take place. If the senator from Rhode Island could not tell him, of course he would have to go on in the dark until that superior mind which controlled the senate would give the informa-

Mr. Aldrich said that it was not his intention, nor the intention of any senator on the republican side, to press the determination of the question in any manner except such as would be recognized as proper and correct by any person who had a proper understanding and appreciation of the situation. He and appreciation of the situation. He ex-pected and intended, so far as he had control of the matter, to use every reasonable effort to secure an early disposition of the resolution. Mr. Teller asked Mr. Aldrich to give some idea of what he considered a reasonable time or the debate to proceed.

ALDRICH ASKS UNANIMOUS CONSENT. Mr. Aldrich said that he had already inlicated that in his proposition to have a vote aken at 5 o'clock tomorrow, and he again isked unanimous consent to have that time

The presiding officer, Mr. Frye, asked if there was any objection to the request.

Mr. Gorman objected. He was glad, howver, that unanimous consent had been asked, ise that had been the universal custom of senate. It was the way in which all public ess had been done in the senate. It was orderly, sure way of securing action. But e length of the debate on the proposition as to be determined by the importance of

What Will Aldrich Do? It is not known whether Aldrich will atempt to force a vote tomorrow, or whether he when he wants a vote, the chances are he can set it, although the rules of the senate distinctively provide that no question shall be voted upon until every senator who desires to discuss said question shall have done so. When he wants a vote, Aldrich will simply core that debate be closed, and the vote on

he passage of the resolution taken. The CONDEMNING THE BILL. democrats will, of course, raise a point of order against the motion, but Vice President Morton will be provided with a ready-made decision, which he will read, ruling that the appeal is not in order, and the senate will sustain him. Under these circumstances, although the rules will be outraged, there is nothing for the democrats to do, and nothing they can do, unless it would be to resort to physical force, which would upver do. By this outrageous programme, the gag rule will probably be put through tomorrow or Monday, and then the battle proper will be over the passage of the force bill. With the gag rule the republicans can demand and have a vote on the force bill whenever the choose. That will, in all probability, be some time during the early part of next week, and unless by that time one more republican joins the ranks of the democracy in the fight against the bill, it will be passed by the senate. The democrats feel confident that they will secure the necessary strength when the proper time arrives, and as a consequenthey are not much annoyed, nor as fearful of the passage of the bill as they were a week ago. Although Senator Gorman knows, after yesterday's rulings of the vice president, that appeals and parliamentary generalship will be useless any further in the fight on account of the partisanship of the vice president having already enveloped his conscience, his integrity, and, indeed, his common honesty in keeping his oath of office, yet the Marylander feels confident that, by some means, he will be able to defeat the infamous force bill. He believes that, at the proper time, the emocrats will have mustered enough votes to defeat the infamy on a direct vote.

Mr. Cooper, of Indiana, rising to a question of privilege, sent to the clerk's desk and had read a resolution offered by him on September 4th last, making certain charges against the commissioner of pensions, and asking for a broadening of investigation of that official. Mr. Cooper then again took up his old line of attack upon the pension bureau, and Messrs. Grosvenor, Henderson of Illinois, Smith and Cannon defended Commissioner Raum. Mr. Morrill explained that Mr. Cooper's resolution of Syptember 4th had been improperly referred to his committee, and had been returned to the speaker's table within an hour after it reached the committee.

Mr. Cooper stated that the resolution had never been put upon record. The matter was settled amicably by Mr. Morrill obtaining the original resolution from the files of the house, reporting it from his committee and having it referred to the ommittee on rules.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill.

General debate on the bill was participated in y Messrs. Herbert, McAdoo, Adams of Illinois, nd Lodge. The latter's criticism of the bill was by Messrs. Herbert, McAgoe, Adams of limins, and Lodge. The latter's criticism of the bill was that it did not go far enough.

The bill was taken up by paragraphs for amendment, but without making any progress with it the committee rose, and the house, at 5 o'clock, adjourned.

Indianapolis, January 23.—A special to the Sentinel from Huntington says that authentic dvices have been received there to the effect that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineer support the strike on the Chicago and s. Strikers boarded all trains and set the brakes, making it impossible to run the trains. A mail train with a baggage car containing three corpses was allowed to pass unmolested. The company is feeding forty transient passengers at the depot, and will send them to their destinations via the Wabash. A committee of citizens is trying to have the question arbi-trated, but the strikers are firm in their demands that Train Dispatcher Scott be reinstated long enough to allow him to resign nonorably.

The bears had the market for today pretty much their own way from the opening, which was weak under the decline in Liverpool. Then port receipts began to show big figures and prices further declined. Then again came very high figures from the interior, receipts showing a considerable increase over last weeks.

These were regarded as a complete knockout for the bulls, but they plucked up courage and, with the aid of the customary buying to cover contracts, effected a small recovery. The purchase of one line of 5,000 bales for August was the principal feature of dealings in the last fifteen minutes. Spot cotton was dull and weak, but not quotably lower.

The Flood Subsiding

Ansonia, Conn., January 23.—The great flood in the Housatonic has subsided, and the terrorized people who were awake all night, have gone to seek rest. The dam this morning is dry on top. The break is about 150 feet long and extends to the foundation. The eastern gate house went down the river at midnight. There is a piece about fifty feet long of solid masonry, twisted bodily around and now stands at right angles with the dam. Eugene Brinswade, who has the supervision of the structure, estimates the damage at about $300,000.

ABOUT VOTING FOR THE FORCE BILL. THE HEIR TO BELGIUM'S THRONE

The action of the alliance and Knights of Labor confederation today in practically speaking out against the force bill, by the passage of a resolution requesting the different state legislatures to provide laws in the re-spective states for fair elections, is expected to have some effect upon the senate. Colonel Livingston says all the industrial rganizations are opposed to the pending law, which would materially injure the advance ment of the industrial south.

In speaking of the proposed third party movement tonight, Colonel Livingston said that the federation of industrial organizations had no idea of starting such a movement. They realized what an uphill business it would be to form a new party, and, anyhow, it had become quite evident that one of the old parties would con sider the interests of the people and provide for their relief.

Mr. Powderly, the master workman of the Knights of Labor, says substantially the same hing. He thinks a third party movemen would be a very unwise step.

It is openly asserted that the death of the Belgian prince was a repetition of the sad circumstances surrounding the death of Arch-duke Rudolph, heir to the Austrian throne, who met his death in such a mysterious manner on January 30, 1889. It was added that a beautiful German governess, who had been recently banished from the Belgian court by order of King Leopold, had been in some way King Leopold, had been in some wa Rumpr also had it that there had been an in-trigue lasting a long time between the govern-ess and the prince, and a result of their liaison is said to be the birth of a child. The democrats and independents forced the republicans to adjourn.

Arrangements had been made with a hotel to supply meals for the democrats, and those who are stopping at boarding houses brought their luncheons along.

For two days the republicans had succeeded in having Mr. Taubenock, one of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association men, make the motion to adjourn, but this time he was obdurate. He and his colleagues proposed to rest the responsibility on the republicans, where it belonged, and as a consequence eight ballots were had.

Each ballot resulting as follows: Palmer 101, Oglesby 100, Streeter 3. It began to look as if there would be an all-day and all-night session, and those who were sati fied of this produced their luncheons. The speaker called Joe O'Donnell to the chair, and took Lieutenant Governor Ray, into his room, where they regaled themselves with what refreshments were available. When they returned, the speaker dispatched a page to notify the hotel people to serve a luncheon in the hall of representatives, but he had hardly done so, when Charley Fuller, of the republican joint steering committee, moved to adjourn.

The democrats have refrained from bothering them, and have all along been conscious of the fact that General Palmer was in closer sympathy with the principles of the farmer organizations than any republican worthy of the position of United States senator can be, and continues a leader of his party.

Telegrams from the districts represented by the three independents prove this, and it would not be surprising if General Palmer is elected before this time next week.

THE GREAT CARNIVAL BALL.

The Great Interest Felt in the Culmination of Augusta's Most Successful Undertaking.

Augusta, Ga., January 23. - [Special.]-The carnival has come and gone.

Tonight saw its crowning glory, the great arnival ball. The committee had done all its power to make it a success, and such it was.

The dining hall of the exposition building, where the dance was held, was brilliantly and beautifully decorated. For several days decorators have been at vork under the direction of Chairman D'Antignac, and the results of their work, as seen last night, were deserving of all praise. All around the room flags and bunting of all kinds were sean, and in every niche fairy lights were half hidden by banks of evergreens. The throne of King cotton, io one end of the room, was brilliantly lighted and superbly

lecorated. Until the time of his unmasking t was the center of attraction. Where is the king?" was the question asked a thousand times, and hundreds of prying eyes tryed in vain to penetrate his disguise. Never has a secret been better kept. Only three peo-ple in the whole city knew who was King Cotton, and they guarded the secret faithfully and well. The electric lines ran up to the doors of the building, and, until 12 o'clock, car after car came up, loaded down with merry makers. The floor was crowded with dancers, and they all enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The all enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The music, which was excellent, was furnished by the Fourth Artillery band.

At 10:30 o'clock the mask of the king was removed, and it proved to be Mr. J. J.
Doughty, the popular and widely-known president of the cotton exchange.

His court jester was Mr. Fred Speth, who is with Daly & Armstrong. This was what was expected by many, although none was certain.

Mr. Doughty was greeted with round after ound of applause, upon his unmasking, and he resigned his kingly prerogatives and shook ands with his many loyal subjects.

Thus is the carnival ended. It was a success, and no one can say that everything advertised was not shown. Every promise has been kept, and Augusta is proud and happy. REVIEW OF TRADE.

What Was Done During the Past Week New York, January 23.—Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The new year opens encouragingly. January settlements have passed with less disturbance in trade than was expected, and the demand for goods now appears, on the whole, considerably larger than that of a year ago. The financial anxieties which have occupied so much the Paghit of Tagastra and a lower house of the legislature this afternoon on the question of referring to a special committee the memorial from the union veterans of Topeka praying for the return of lingalis to the senate and demanding that no man be selected to succeed him who could not benefit the old soldiers more in congress than he has created some disturbance among the alliance forces, and corresponding confidence among the lingaits people. The question are whether the nemorial should be referred to a special committee or should be referred to a special committee or should be referred to a special committee or should be referred to a special committee. The resolution was finally referred to a committee, the vote being 87 ayes and 28 nays.

Thirteen alliance members voted with the republicans, while eight democrats voted with the alliance. This vote is taken as a possible indication of the vote on senator.

In joint session it will require eighty—three votes to elect a senator. Should the democrats voted with the alliance as enator. Should the democrats voted with the rejection, and should the democrats voted with a stand: Ingalis, 76; alliance candidates, 80; democratic candidate, 9. Should the thirteen alliance men, who stood by Ingalis today, vote for his reelection, and should the democrats voted with the alliance forces the opposition to Ingalis would aggregate 89 votes—a majority.

Three cancuses were held last night at a late hour. One was composed of the adherents of P. Elder, speaker of the house. They numbered twenty-live alliance mand adecided to push his calmis in caucus.

The Presentments.

We, the grand jury, chosen and sworn for the fall term, 1890, of Fulton county, having finished our work, beg feave to submit the following general presentments:

We have received the report of Samuel A. Bwann and W. H. Scott, who were appointed by our predecessors to make a complete and thorough investigation of the records of Fulton county, and examine critically the books of the various county officials. We herewith attach their reports, which shows a very gratifying state of affairs, especially so far as our county officers are concerned. We have recommended the county comissioners to pay them $250 for their services.

The usual committees as prescribed by law were amonited by the foreman and their reports.

Your committee on public buildings and grounds submit the following as the result of their labors. We have visited the county jail and made a close and careful investigation of its condition throughout. We find it in a very unsatisfactory state, especially as relates to its sanitary arrangements. The closets in the various satisfactory state, especially as relates to its sani-tary arrangements. The closets in the various cells are by far from what they should be, and are, for the most part, in bad condition, and calculated to create sickness. There is no arrangement provided for flushing or washing out these closets other than a cock placed just above them, and which is wholly unfit for the purpose. From the best of our belief, and from what we could learn, these closets are untrapped, and with no means to prevent that breeder of disease, sewer gas, from impregnating every part of the build-ing.

The heating capacity is not sufficient for mak-

We find two imperfect registers in the floor of the jail corridor by which the heat is rereceived if from the furnace. These are not sufficient, and others should be put in, as the capacity of the furnace is sufficient for several more than are now in.

We find that the dirt and filth from year to year
We find that the dirt and filth from year to year We find that the dirt and filth from year to year has been allowed to remain unremoved from closets, walls, floors, windows, grate-bars and cell doors, and the same has been from time to time covered up by coats of whitewash and lime, until now that accumulation in places is not only an inch thick, but nearly hides the rivet heads and covers many of the metal bars making the lattice doors to cells, and which is calculated to damage the strength and safety of the metal and render the safety of same defective, to say nothing of the danger to health that this accumulation of dirt and lime may cause.

We further find the bedding, etc., of the jail to be impregnated with vermin, and the prisoners sleeping upon the floors, there being no provision whatever for hammocks or cots.

The prisoners in the jail do not present a clean appearance; the negroes and whites are thrown promiscuously together, and there appears to be a total lack of discipline throughout the whole of

The cook room seems to be ample in size and the range of sufficient capacity, but there appears to be a scarcity of utensils, etc, throughout this department.

The commissary room and some of the other apartments appear to have been recently straightened up and present a fair appearance. While the building can be put in a much better condition throughout in every particular than it now presents, we feel satisfied in saying that this jail is far from what the county of Fulton should have and is not of such construction and dimensions as the county needs require. The county should at once take all necessary steps to have a new jail, of large and commodious dimensions, with all modern appointments, and or the most approved plans, not only for the safe keeping of prisoners, but for the preservation of the health and comfort of those whom the process of law have deprived of their liberty.

The yard around the jail we find to be unpaved, and, in such condition as to prevent the exercise of prisoners in same without danger to health in bad weather. This yard should be paved with brick or stone. The front of the jail presents a very dilapidated look, and should be kept in a neat and tasteful condition.

To sum up the whole, we regret to say that the county jail and its appurtenances, as now found, are not such as the mibers of the grand jury can approve or endorse. Some one is certainly responsible for its present condition, and the county commissioners, in our judgment, have not been as careful in enforcing that attention to matters competed therewith as the law requires that they should.

In connection with this report it is due to the present sheriff, Captain Morrow, to state that he informs us, owing to the bad and inclement weather since his assuming charge of the jail, he has not been able to make that progress in cleaning and arranging affairs around the jail and its interior, it does not appear that such care and attention has been bestowed thop it as decency even would demand.

The condition of the county jail favorably with that of the state convict camps located in Fulton county.

The county countrhouse is not kept in as clean condition as it should be, and we suggest that the county commissioners either require the janitors to do their work more thoroughly, as to discharge them and put men in their places that will keep the building clean and free from dark.

Thore are repairs that should be made upon the public buildings of this county, and we arreefy processing that the county commissioners give

DOCKETS OF THE JUSTICES OF THE PRACE.
Our committee appointed to examine dockets of the justices peace, notary publics and ex-officionsistices of the peace of the county of Fulton, begleave to submit the following report:
That it has examined all the dockets of the county except the following which have not been left with us:

W. W. Fischer, N. P. Cooks, 459th district, and in the judgment of the committee they have been honestly kept, and we feel that the law has been rightly administered. Your committee was very much pleased with the manner and neatness in which the dockets of the city are being kept.

ROAD AND BRIDGES.

Your committee, appointed to review the public roads and bridges, find, after having gone over a greater part of the public roads of the county, that with few exceptions, they are too marrow.

The Peachtree road is in very bad condition between Peachtree creek and Buckhead, and the road running from Baker's to the Simpson street road is in a very bad fix, and as far as we can learn, was not worked during 1890. We also find other places that need attention at once. The bridge over Nance's creek, at Randle's mills, in Buckhead district, is unsafe.

other places that need attention at once. The bridge over Nance's creek, at Randle's mills, in Buckhead district, is unsafe.

We find that part of Jonesboro road in front of Benjamin Thurman's in a dangerous condition to travelers, on account of being so close to the Atlanta and Florida railroad. We recommend that the road be made wider at that point. We also find in many places, on first-class roads, deep ditches on the sides of the roads, three, four and five feet deep in places. With the exception of the above, we find the roads in fair condition.

We refer a petition received from the citzens of Oak Grove district, asking for a bridge over the Chattahoochee river at Powell's ferry, to our county commissioners, and recommend that they confer with the county commissioners of Cobb county in regard to the building of a bridge jointly by the two counties.

STATE CONVICT CAMPS.

We, the committee from the grand jury of Fulton county superior court, together with the citizens' committee of Atlanta, Messrs. A. J. West, Henry R. Powers and J. J. Meador, appointed for the purpose of visiting the convict camps of the Chattahoochee Brick Company, beg leave to say that we have discharged this duty to the best of ourability.

On the first Monday of the present month we our ability.

On the first Monday of the present month we visited the camps on the Chattaloochee river and made a careful and close investigation of the condition of the prisoners confined there. We found 160 men at the camp at the river; of these one was sick from cold and was allowed to remain in the quarters until he recovered without being sent to the hospital. In the hospital we found four sick men, three white and one colored. The colored man was suffering from syphilitic consumption and is incurable. The others were suffering from complaints incident to the cold weather and to the change from the lower part of the state to this camp.

We first made a thorough inspection of the diet of the prisoners, visiting the cook kitchen and noticing the meals in preparation. The prisoners have an abundance of good wholesome bread and meat, with vegetables once a day. The vegetables furnished are turnips, potatoes and onions. Each prisoner has his meals prepared and put up separately in a tin bucket, and they will all fare alike. There is an abundance for each and every one, and by putting it up separately, in the buckets, there is no possibility of one encroaching upon the rights of another.

We next visited the sleeping quarters and found there large rooms, perhaps seventy-five feet long, with nice bunks and plenty of blankets for cover-On the first Monday of the present month we

We next visited the sleeping quarters and found there large rooms, perhaps seventy-five feet long, with nice bunks and plenty of blankets for covering. The convicts sleep two together, the whites being kept in one portion of the room, and the balance being given up to the colored convicts. Large stoves keep these rooms thoroughly warm all night long. These quarters are well ventilated, and we cannot see why they should not be perfectly healthy. They are built some distance from the ground and are perfectly dry. These houses are in an enclosure of stout boards, and the prisoners are at all times under the surveillance of guards, so that there is little, if any, opportunity to escape.

We visited the working places and found the convicts at hard work, as the law requires they should be. Their business is making brick, and the work is no harder, nor more difficult, nor more able, than free labor would be perfectly disagreeable, than free labor would be perfectly willing to engage in.

The superintendent of the camps who has sole and exclusive charge of all these departments is Mr. Woodruff, whom we found to be very gentlemanly and courteous. His face and actions indicate that he is a humane man who would not be guilty of excessive or brutal punishment under any circumstances. He is by appointment of the governor the "whipping boss," and exercises the power entrusted to him with judgment and discretion.

power entrused to him with judge power entrused to him with many of the cretion.

We engaged in conversation with many of the convicts, not in the presence of guards nor any one else, and they generally expressed themselves as being well treated and well pleased as they could be anywhere while being restrained of their liberty.

After making this inspection of this camp, we went to the broom factory near Bolton, where twenty-three women are confined. The quarters are very comfortable, and doubtless more so than a majority of them had at their home. Their fare are very comfortable, and doubtless more so than a majority of them had at their home. Their fare is excellent. Their quarters are kept warm and comfortable, and they have every indication of being well treated. They are engaged in making brooms, and work only in the house.

While it was our aim and purpose to make a faithful representation of the affairs as we found them in these camps, and if any evils existed to expose them without fear or favor, yet we found nothing to condemn but everything to approve of nothing to condemn but everything to approve of in the management of this unfortunate class of people. We do not see that the state itself or any other person to whom the punishment of these convicts is entrusted could do better than the present lessees.

COUNTY CHAINGANG.

Your committee, in pursuance of their duty, first visited the Fulton county stockade, and in its perfect condition in every department found but one occupant in the hospital. Your committee cannot too highly recommend the wisdom and broad philanthropy of the commission in giving this admirable home for its unfortunate people. It meets to the fullest degree the highest demands of this nineteenth century civilization, and places Fulton county far in the van as the leader of prison reform and the proper appreciation of the demands. county far in the van as the leader of prison re-form and the proper appreciation of the demands of her unfortunate, especially under the super-vision of its corps of managers, chief of whom is Captain Thomas Donaldson, the superintendent, whose thoughtful care and watchful foresight can be traced in its daily workings.

We also visited what is known as old Peach-

We also visited what is known as old Peach-tree camp, and found the building wholly inadequate to the demands and re-quirements of the times. Your committee would recommend a total abandonment of this camp, as it stands confronting and obstructing the future growth of the city in that direction, and certainly must be obnoxious to many of our citizens already located in that rapidly growing locality, and if practicable, that all the convicts be transferred to the Fulton county stockade.

located in that rapidly growing locality, and if practicable, that all the convicts be transferred to the Fulton county stockade.

We also visited convicts at work on the streets and found them cheerful and even happy and contented, the only complaint coming from two colored convicts who claimed that they did not get the medicine their malady required, a matter Captain Donaldson promised to remedy at once. Not a single complaint was heard as to food and other necessities. We would again revert to the beautiful condition of the Fulton county stockade, which is in all probability the most complete prison in the south, and is not to be surpassed anywhere. It is certainly an honor to Georgia and reflects the highest credit on the men who inspired its erection, and to whom the to Georgia and reflects the highest credit on the men who inspired its erection, and to whom the county is indebted for its admirable management; to its baths and other sanitary perfection is wholly due the healthy condition of its immates, only one of whom was found confined to his bed, and that from a disease contracted years before his incarceration.

COUNTY ALMSHOUSE.

Having visited and inspected the county almshouse, we beg to submit the following report:

We find the number of inmates to the as foliows:

White males 14, white females 11; colored males 9, colored females 3; total 39.

colored females 3; total 39.

And in the insane department—white males 3, this females 3; colored males 1; total 7. white females 3; colored males 1; total 7.
Total inmates 46.
It is gratifying to the committee to report everything in and about the aimshouse a model of good order and cleanliness. The insane department, a neat and comfortable building located about a half mile from the almshouse proper, is presided over by Mrs. Gallagher, to whom much credit is due for the systematic manner in which everything pertaining to this department is conducted. The food furnished the Aimates of-both departments is good, wholesome and well prepared, and a careful investigation failed to disclose any complaint as to quality or quantity.

The committee takes pleasure in commending Dr. Hope, the present superintendent, for the

The committee takes pleasure in commending Dr. Hope, the present superintendent, for the energy and judgment displayed by him in the management of the farm lands connected with the almshouse property, and upon which, according to his report to the committee, there were raised last year corn, hay, fodder. I rish and sweet potatoes, meat, vegetables, etc., to the amount of $1,140, all of which was used for the support of the inmates of the almshouse.

The general management of this department of the county government is so perfect that recommendations are unnecessary.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

We have elected as members of the board of education of Fulton county to serve the full term of four years from April, 1801, the following:

Adam S. Poole, of South Atlanta, to succeed himself.

one of the prisoners in Fulson county jail stabbed a fellow prisoner to death, this jury recommends that, in addition to the searchings that all prisoners receive at the time of being incarcerated, each prisoner be subjected to a thorough search as least twice a week, and thus render it almost impossible for them to retain instruments for deliverance, or, if need be, of murder.

With a view of holding more in check the law-less element which asserts itself in distant portions of the county, in districts away from the restraining influence of the sheriff and municipal officers, we recommend the appointment of a suitable number of discreet, mounted officers, whose duty it would be to patrol the outlaying districts of the county. Appointments to be made by the county commissioners and paid by the county of the red-handed murderers escape arrest, and thus avoid the punishments due for their crimes. We do not know wherein the fault lies, but do earnestly hope for the sake of the public welfare that greater diligence may actuate those charged with the duty of arresting criminals. We ask from the proper authorities the completion of a suitable county map, from which may be printed copies to be sold to our people at a price covering the cost of preparation. We know this work has been under way for a long time, and considering its importance and value to our people, are at a loss to know why such unseemly delay is incident to its publication.

We would feel that we had omitted a most important duty did we fail to state as our sincere conviction the very great need which exists for a reformatory school, or house of detention, for the sasigned to companionship when sentenced for crime of hardened criminals, whose vile teachings render them so promient in crime as to banish forever any hope of future reformation or usefulness as citizens.

A case having been brought to our notice of a minor having permission from his father to obtain liquor, we feel constrained to enter a protest against allowing a thoughtless parent to rob a good law of its power to render that protection to his offspring which he himself thoughtlessly denies him.

list offspring which he himself thoughtiessly ucnies him.

In view of the great danger resulting to life and limb in a great number of railway trains which constantly pass back and forth across many of our public roads which cross railways at grade, this jury does carnestly recommend to the proper authorities to cause careful surveys to be made, and where possible, for our country roads to be so diverted as that they be made to cross the railway by means of bridging or tunneling, as safety and economy may best dictate. We feel that the active co-operation of the various railroad companies may be expected in a movement so well calculated to diminish the suits for damages

calculated to diminish the suits for damages brought against them.

In view of the rapidly enhancing values on land in Fulton county, and the greater necessity, in consequence thereof, of having boundary lines better defined, that wasteful litigation be avoided, this jury recommend that the county commissioners be requested to have bids advertised for granite blocks or cubes with which to mark the corners of each land lot in the county. These orners of each land lot in the county. These ubes could be so indented and marked as to be of very great service to our people, serving as they would as a basis of subdivision measurenents.

A special committee from this body examined the condition of the city police station. We do they would as a basis of subdivision measurements.

A special committee from this body examined the condition of the city police station. We do not believe it is a fit place for the incarceration of human beings, though they be criminals. The air is foul through imperfect ventilation and imperfect plumbing. We do not believe that much improvement could be made unless the old building be torn down and a new station honse erected. It is kept as clean as it is possible to keep it under the circumstances, but we do not want to be understood as saying it is clean. We cannot approve the close proximity in which males and females are kept, they being in adjoining cells with only a thin sheet-iron wall between them. Every oath uttered, every foul sentence spoken by either is of course heard by all.

In conclusion we want to call special attention to the fact that the roads of Fulton county are not what they should be. The county chaingang, to which is sentenced persons convicted of misdemeanors, is large, and thousands and thousands of dollars are spent every year in maintaining these convicts. If heir work had been properly directed the public roads of Fulton county would now be in fine condition, but instead there have been many new reads opened for private benefit, and there has been too much work done to build up private interests. This is wrong and should be stopped. If there is no authority vested in the courts to bring about a change in this system the people will have to take the matter in hand and right the wrong themselves. The roads of Fulton county should be firm and hard in the worst of weather for the transportation of the products of the farm to the market. Instead of being hard and smooth they are muddy and rough and full of holes. We urge our county commissioners to give their best attention to the improvement of the public roads of the county living outside of the city would derive great benefits from this bridge, we think it but right that the county authorities to aid in some manner to the best of t building it.

We desire to say in connection with these presentments, that a large percentage of the crimes committed, and for which parties have been indicted, is caused by the carrying of concealed weapons, and the careless handling of the same weapons, and the careless nandling of the same by irresponsible people, mostly colored, and we urge that the laws governing the carrying of con-cealed weapons be rigidly enforced. We have found several true bills for murder, in which there does not seem to have been any deep set enmity between the parties, but foolish quarrels arose be-almost every instance.

We most respectfully call attention to the fact that many recommendations herein made have been made by several previous grand juries, and the authorities to whom made have ignored them. We can only call attention to this neglect, and hope that it will not again occur.

We desire to return our thanks to the Hons. Marshall J. Clarke, Richard H. Clark and Howard Van Epps for the able, upright and impartial manner in which they have done their duty, and commend our solicitor, Mr. C. D. Hill, for the prompt and able manner in which he has served as prosecuting officer. We also recommend that these presentments be published in The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and The Evening Journal.

Fire Near Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—At 4 o'clock this morning the barn on the plantation of G. T. Brannon, a few miles from Seale, Russell county, was destroyed by fire, together with the contents, five bales of cotton, a large quantity of corn and cotton seed, two fine cows and several hogs. Two good horses were so badly injured that they will probably die. The fire spread with such fearful rapidity that there was no time to get the animals out. Loss about $4,000. No insur-

Ran to Death.

TRENTON, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—Last night when the convict miners at the Coal City night when the convict miners at the Coal City camp were being counted into the stockade it was found that one was missing. The blood-hounds were put upon his track and be was recaptured after a three-hours' race. He was taken to the camp, where he died within five minutes after his arrival. The jury at the inquest found that he had died of exhaustion, as no shots were fired at him.

Improvement in Dalton.

Dalton, Ga., |January 23.—[Special.]—It is known here today that a trade has been consummated by which a wealthy New York syndicate has become possessed of all the vacant property in this city. Property lying in different parts of the city has been pooled and sold to a syndicate for $190,000. They will improve at once.

She Killed Her Child. WARRENTON, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—Sheriff Robinson made his first arrest on yesterday. He arrested and lodged in jail a negro woman living on Captain W. W. Swain's place, woman living on Captain W. W. Swain's place, charged with the killing of her baby. She says she did not kill the child; that the child died, and she carried it to the woods and hid it under a pile of brush. But her story is not believed, and it is thought that it is a clear case of infanticide. There are at present two occupants of the jail here—a negro man, for murder, and this negro woman for infanticide.

His Piano Smashed to Pieces. Massenton, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—Pro-fessor J. Frank Little, who has been first assist-ant of the high school here, has resigned his posi-tion and has accepted the position as principal of the Stephens High school at Crawfordville. While loading his furniture preparatory of moving to his new home, he had his handsome plane torn into splinters by a freight train running into the wagon.

I had a slight stroke of paralysis which frightened fine very much. My health was poor and the doctors gave me medicine for heart disease, but I grew weaker. My cousin recommended Dr. Buil's Sarasparilla, which certainly has benefited me greatly, for I feel in splendid health.—Samuel T. Phelan, Dayton, O.

THE FATHER DEAD

SON SHOOTS HIM-SELF.

The Singular Sheeting of Colonel Gus Bates and Its Still More Singular Result.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., January 23 .- [Special.]-On Saturday night, Colonel Gus Bates, a retired lawyer of wealth, living at his country home in this county, shot himself through the forehead. There was but one spectator to the deed, the victim's son, Dr. Bates.

The ball entered the center of the forehead and lodged at the base of the brain. THE SON'S STORY.

Mr. Bates's story was that his father had picked up the weapon, a 38-caliber, self-acting gun, for the purpose of cleaning and loading it. He pointed the barrel toward his face and began snapping it, not dreaming that a load was in any of the chambers. Noticing this, his son Horace said:

"Don't do that, father; it may be loaded.

Just as the remark was made, Colonel Bates again pressed the trigger, and this time a loud and terrific report followed, and the unfortunate man fell to the floor. It was first thought he was dead, but in a short while Colonel Bates showed signs of consciousness, and lived until 1 o'clock today, when he died. THE SECOND TRAGEDY.

The mystery surrounding the shooting has been heightened by the conduct of the dead man's son, who now lies at the point of death from a self-inflicted wound, which he administered about 2 o'clock this morning. At that hour he went out of the house, and in a few moments came back with his hand on his side, and said to Dr. Lindsay Johnson, who was attending his father, that he had to hit the heart, the ball entered the side to the left of the heart. His only explanation was that he was in trouble, and he wanted to die. He begged the doctor to give him something to end his life, and without giving any explanation of the double tragedy, he fell off into a comatose state, and will be dead before midnight.

RUMORS AFLOAT.

There were many rumors as to the cause of this tragedy. Whether there had been a quarrel between father and son, resulting n the suicide first of the one and then of the other; or whether the son acted through grief because of the accident to his father can never now be known.

To give point to the theory that all has not yet been told the Courant is authority for the statement that when Colonel Bates read the statement in THE CONSTITUTION that he had shot himself, he became very angry and said it was a "lie"-that he had not shot him-

This raises the question: If he did not shoot himself, who did?

COLONEL T. P. SAFFOLD

Death of a Noted Republican Leader in Cobb County. Madison, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—In announcing the death of Colonel T. P. Saffold, which took place in Cobb county, The Madiso-which took place in Cobb county, The Madisonian says:

Colonel Stafford was at one time prominently connected with the politics of the state, having represented Morgan in the secession convention of 1860, and was also one of the representatives to the constitutional convention of 1868. He was at one time solicitor general of the Ocmulgee circuit, and was appointed by Grant during his administration, one of the board of visitors to the Annapolis Navy and Military academy.

Few men live today in Georgia who possess more brilliant minds than did Colonel Thomas P. Saffold. He once made a literary address at West Point, New York, which attracted universal admiration. He was an intimate friend of General Toombs, and has on several occasions entertained this great statesman at his home in Morgan Death of Solicitor General Rogers. Death of Solicitor General Rogers.

Sandersville, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—
Hon. Oscar H. Rogers, who has been solicitor general of the middle circuit for the past six years, died here yesterday at 7 o'clock. He was stricken with acute bronchitis a few days ago, which culminated last night in his death. Colonel Rogers was one of the most prominent lawyers in this circuit. The funeral ceremony was held today at 3 o'clock in the Christian church, the edifice being crowded. An eloquent funeral oration was delivered by Rev. F. L. Adams.

LAGRANGE, Ga., January 23.—On Tuesday night, at his home in O'Neal's district, Mr. G. W. O'Neal at his home in O'Neal's district, Mr. G. W. O'Neal passed away with pneumonia. At the same time, and a victim to the same fell disease, Mr. Charles N. Duke died at his residence on the Whiteville road.

TWO MURDERERS

FALL INTO THE CLUTCHES OF SHERIFF HEWITT.

One Who Shot to Death a Small Boy in Ala nama and the Other is an Atlanta

CARROLLTON, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]— The bravery of Sheriff Hewitt has again been

The story, as told by The Evening Times, of this city, is one full of interest. GOLDIN WAS A MURDERER.

John Goldin was arrested and jailed some weeks ago, charged with the burning of Hon. G. A. McDaniel's ginhouse. As soon as Mr. Hewitt got his clutches on Goldin he thought he had a letter of inquiry about a man of the same description, and that there was a considerable reward for his aware. erable reward for his arrest. So, as soon as Goldin was turned loose on the charge of ginhouse burning, Sheriff Hewitt fearrested him and commenced investigation of the charges that came against him from Alabama, and he became in possession of the following particulars: Some months ago John Goldin was living in St. Clair county, Ala., and he made a plot with a small boy about twelve years old named Coleman to steal his father's, W. T. Coleman, orse and mule. Goldin and young Colema stole the horse and mule one night and had got some distance from Coleman's when the lad got uneasy and wanted to turn around and go back home. This Goldin was opposed to and decoyed Coleman into the woods and killed him to keep him from going back and revealing the theft. Goldin went on his way, sold his mule and horse and later came to Victory, this county, where he was arrested for the burning of Uncle George McDaniel's gin-

GEORGE WASHINGTON CAUGHT.

The other is a negro named George Washington, who is in jail charged with larceny, which crime was committed near Villa Rica. After a careful examination, Mr. Hewitt found out that George Washington had killed another negro in Atlanta, and that there was a reward of $250 for him. Mr. Hewitt went up and questioned George about the matter, but he was not like George Washington of old, and told Mr. Hewitt a lie at first, but later acknowledged that he was the man wanted in Atlanta.

Mr. Hewitt received two telegrams from the sheriff of Fulton county asking him to hold George Washington, for he was the man wanted in that county for murder and arson. George Washington, alias George Ware, is a large negro weighing 250 pounds, and is an exceedingly mean negro. He burned out of Atlanta jail last year and has said he would get out of Carrollton jail, but Mr. Hewitt has him shackled. He has several plots to get out. One was to throw a blanket over little Sam's face, Sheriff Hewitt's little boy, carry him into the cell, take the keys from him and let out all the persons in the jail. A jail bird that has been released of late told Mr. Hewitt of Washington's plan, and later he acknowledged it. Mr. Hewitt received two telegrams from

TWO DANGEROUS FIRES, Which Almost Resulted in the Destruction

ALBANY, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—Fires have recently broken out in two of Albany's hotels, the Artesian and the Commercial house. Prompt and timely action by the guests in both instances saved the buildings from dein both instances saved the buildings from de-struction. In the former the flames appeared in a closet under the stairs in the second story of the building, where the kerosene lamps were attended to. They had gained great headway and were roaring among the laths, and filling the buildings with suffocating volumes of smoke, which created quite a panic among the boarders, who rushed out in all manner of deshabille from their apartments, terribly alarmed.

At the Commercial hotel two boys were playing pranks upon each other, and had rushed up to an unused room in the third stery of the building, where one of them, to alarm the other, struck a match, and throwing it down slammed the door to and ran down stairs. The other left alone in the vacant room in the darkness lost no time in escaping therefrom. The match had been heedlessly thrown in a pile of trash in one corner of the room, neither of the boys looking to see where it had found a lodgment. It soon ignited the inflammable material, and only by prompt discovery and good work were the building and contents saved.

Fell Exhausted On the Sidewalk. ALBANY, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—A negro man was seen painfully toiling along on North man was seen painfully tolling along on North street the other day. Every step seemed to be fraught with pain. Suddenly he fell prostrate along the edge of the sidewalk, and was unable to rise. A crowd of sympathizing colored people promptly gathered around him, and he was tenderly lifted and taken to one of their houses, where he was carefully ministered to. He proved to be a negro from Chattanooga, who, while working in a timber gang, at McCree, was crushed by a falling tree, which fell with terrific force directly across his body, mashing him frightfully. He was endeavoring to make his way to his mother, who lives at Smithville.

A Big Tannery Contemplated. DAWSONVILLE, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—A oint stock company is being formed in this place for the purpose of erecting aid operating a tan-nery with all modern improvements; capital stock $100,000. Officers to be elected in a few days and a charter to be applied for. William Collins, who attempted to murder and rob Gazaway, is in jail here awaiting his trial in March next.

Improvements at Helena. HELENA, Ga., January 23.—[Special.]—Dr. O. W. Turner, of Cusseta, president of the Helena shoe factory, will begin work in a few days on the fac-factory, which will be one of the largest in the south. The Helena Improvement Company is having a great many houses built to rent or sell at this place, but can't near supply the demand.

Cotton Gin on Fire.

SNELLVILLE, Ga., January 23. — [Special.] — Messrs. W. J. Harper & Moore, ginners of this place, had the misfortune of having their ginhouse burned with two bales of cotton and about 300 bushels of cotton seed. The fire was discovered in the lintroom.

Heart Failure, Sudden Death.

The prayer of the Christian pleads for guardianship against sudden death, and yet alas, how many leaves the world for better or for worse without a single moment's warning. He died of heart failure. The tired and weary heart failed while engaged in its momentous task of pumping the blood from the arteries and forcing itinto every big and little vein that the wasting tissues of the flesh might be replenished. How important then that the great stream of life be kept pure and its corpuscies red and active, lest the fluid growsclogged and sluggish, and the heart in an extraordinary effort snaps without a signal the thread of its muscular strength. It is your duty as one who loves the life that God has given him, to assist nature in maintaining free action of the circulatory system by keeping the blood in a state of purity and health. Nature has supplied healing and strengthening herbs for this purpose. Science has discovered what they are and the eminent Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky., has blended them in his superior preparation known as Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. Demand it of your druggist. There is a case pending in Judge Pat Owens's court that grows out of a rock drill transaction.

The only side of the case heard so far is that of the plainting of the property of the plainting of the plainting the plaintiff.

Mr. George Taylor claims that Mr. H. B. Deas proposed to find him a purchaser for a rock drill exhibited at the Piedmont exposition, agreeing to accept a commission on the sale.

After waiting for some time he found that the drill was in Maddox & Rucker's warehouse, and that J. B. Redwine had a claim on it as collateral for money loaned Mr. Deas, about $100.

He sued out a possessory warrant and Bailiff Horace Owens served it on the property.

Mr. Redwine claims that he holds their receipts for it, and will hold Maddox & Rucker responsible for the forthcoming of the property.

Mr. Deas has been absent from the city several days, having gone on a business trip to New York, and the case remains in statu quo until his return.

The Silver Investigation.

The open assertion that there was a silver pool, and that senators and representatives from the Atlantic to the Pacific were interested in it, puts a superficial investigation out of the question. One Senator, Cameron, has admitted that he dealt in silver, but said it was done after his vote. For this, it is reported, the legislature of Pennsylvania will request his resignation. It is stated be fore the committee that efforts were made to fix" the southern members against free coinage. In view of these efforts, the vote of the southern members on the silver bill is fair to look upon.

The initiative seems to have been taken by men who thought they would catch some of the friends of free coinage. So far the evidence indicates an attempt at bribery in the other direction, though so far there is no direct evidence that any member took a consideration for his vote.

The country wants to see the investigation go on thoroughly and unsparingly. Let the committee hew to the line and let the chips fall where they will.

The unchallenged imputation of corruption in the halls of congress is intolerable.

Typical Gold-Bug Arguments. That lively democratic newspaper, The Boston Globe, gets after its slow-coach contemporary, The Journal, for saying that the silver dollar is worth only 75 or 80 cents. Yet why should the lively Globe single out the slow-coach Journal as its victim?

What The Journal declares right out in its clumsy way is the basis of the gold-bug theory; it is what the Hon. Potiphar Peagreen would term the bull works of the whole question. On this all the monometallists are agreed, and it is the only piece of doctrine in which they are agreed. Take, for instance, the arguments of the monometallists as to the results of free coinage. They constitute a mess and a mixture painful to contemplate. Bankers with plenty of money and no brains declare that all the silver in Europe will rush here for free coinage, and the country will be swamped by a "fiat currency." On the other hand, the venerable David M. Stone labors to show the people that free coinage will not give them more currency, because, when silver is on a par with gold, there will be no reason fot having it coined.

There are, in fact, any number of differences among the gold-bugs, but they all agree with The Boston Journal that the silver dollar is worth no more than the bullion value of silver. All of them do not say so right out in meeting, but they allude "fiat currency," and the "depreciated dollar," and they go as far in the direction of The Boston Journal as prudence will

The Globe puts The Journal in a very deep hole by taking that paper at its word. The Journal says the silver dollar is worth only 75 or 80 cents, whereupon The Globe offers The Journal 85 cents for all the silver dollars it can bring to this new market. The Journal, however, will neither make money by selling the "depreciated dollar," nor will it admit that the dollar is worth $1. It will make a spectacle of itself by leaping into the air and letting its hindlegs hang down.

But how about The Globe? Is The Globe for the free coinage of silver? Ninetenths of its readers are, but how does the editor stand?

A Call for Colonel Buck.

There are, or ought to be, just at present, loud calls for Colonel Buck, the widely advertised leader of the republican party in Georgia.

Circumstances demand that he make his presence felt. Where is he, and what is he doing? As the guide, Mentor, friend and political thimble-rigger of the colored brother, it is highly desirable that Colonel Buck should make his whereabouts known If he is under the water he might send up circumspect bubble or two. If he is up a tree he might drop an acorn with a worm hole in it. If he is in the bushes he might give them a gentle shake.

In other words, it is necessary for Colon Buck to come to the front and show that he is a real friend of the negro race. Espe cially is it necessary that he should display some interest in the fate of the negroes who have been made the victims of the African swindle. We repeat, therefore, that the time has arrived when Colonel Buck, as the leader and Moses of the negroes, should come to the front. It is, perhaps, true that the original Moses was neither bald-headed nor bow-legged, but that is altogether a side issue, which is neither interesting nor im-

Colonel Buck is the leader and Moses of the negroes. It is so advertised in the bills, and it is highly important, at this juncture, that he come forward and make his influence felt in behalf of the negroes who have been made the victims of a gigantic swindle. The situation loudly calls for Colonel Buck.

In Atlanta today there are gathered together a large number of practically helpless negroes who have been made the victims of a swindle. That is all the more pitiable because the victims of it are poor and igno rant. The swindle is far-reaching in its effects. It covers the entire south, and counts its victims by the thousand. Colonel Buck and other white republican leaders have been frequently caught in the act of complaining about southern "outrages" or the negroes, and it is to this they owe their prominence as republicans and office holders. And yet no southern "outrage" inc. have ever denounced has ever been as seri-ous and as sinister in its results as this Afri-can emigration swindle of which thousand.

If Colonel Buck is a real friend of the negroes, now is the opportunity for him to take the stump and warn them against the emigration swindlers, who are extending their operations every day. If Colonel Buck really sympathizes with the negroes, here is an opportunity to do the race some service. His exploits heretofore have been purely of a political character, and they cannot be said to have been altogether disinterested. He now has an opportunity to do some real good among the negroes by warning them against this African emigration swindle. It would be a work of mercy and charity, for the deception that is practiced on these credulous people is certain to work deplorable results.

This has been going on for some time, and yet nothing has been done by Colonel Buck or the other white leaders of the re publican party to put an end to the swindle This is the reason we have suggested that the present is a good opportunity for the colonel to distinguish himself. Nevertheless, the fact that he has not done so is a sign that he will not do so. The swindle, proceeding, as it does, out of Washington, and right from under the skirts of the re publican administration, will go on until all the gullible negroes-which includes the large majority of them-are made the victims of the African emigration craze and robbed of their hard-earned dollars.

Why will not Colonel Buck and the other white republican leaders rush to the rescue of the negroes in this matter? In the first place, because their interests in the blacks are purely political; in the second place, because the swindle is republican in its origin. some of its beneficiaries being somewhat prominent men, who love the negro almost as well as they do his money. There is still time, however, for Colonel Buck to stand forth and undeceive the negroes. The results of the republican swindle are barely beginning to make themselves felt.

The Wits of the House. Amos J. Cummings, in his admirable letters to The New York Sun, brings out some rare specimens of wit and satire. One is from General Spinola, the Tam nany war horse. Congressman Peters, of Kansas, had been telling the democrats they had better look out for the Farmers' Alli ance, as their turn to suffer would come next, and he concluded by exclaiming:

Truth crushed to earth will rise again;

Peters sat down amid an applause of the epublicans, and General Spinola rose to

"My amiable and pleasant friend," said ne, "has sought to arraign the democratic party over the tomb of what he calls truth crushed to earth. I wish he had told the house what becomes of falsehood when crushed to earth, as happened last Novem-

This is excellent, but it cannot be compared to the inimitable thrust with which Judge Lanham, of Texas, slew Greenhalge, of Massachusetts. Greenhalge, it will be remembered, was defeated in the last election. He said the democrats should repeal the last three amendments to the constitu tion and elect a confederate soldier speaker. While on the floor he remarked that he had the honor for a month or two to come-a sort of obituary honor-to represent Massachusetts in part. To this Judge Lanham replied: The gentleman from Massachusetts spoke about delivering his obituary. I could but think while he was speaking of a stanza I learned when I was a boy, something like the following, as well as I can now recall it: "What is that, mother?" "The swan, my lov e He is floating down from his native grove, No loved one near, no nestling nigh;

THE GLOBE-DEMOCRAT remarks tha Speaker Reed is doing business at the same old stand." If Editor McCullagh will reflect over the situation he will be able to perceive that the same may be truthfully said

Quay. THE REPUBLICAN senators who have been on a jag during the consideration of the force bill are getting very shaky. Unless they soon have relief they will have go to an inebriate sylum.

THE WONDER is now how Paul ever stood ip before er-grip-ah!

NEW YORK CITY seems to want rapid transit s badly as West End. THE MUGWUMPS thought to shelve Governor

Hill by placing him on a pedestal. They will gradually discover their mistake when the moke of battle rolls away. IT IS BELIEVED that Secretary Noble has not nade up his mind to resign. He is evidently of the opinion that one of his gentlemanly In dian agents would be appointed in his place. EDITOR McCullagh remarks that "Penn ylvania has knocked out Quayism." This is the folk-lore of the situation. The fact of the matter is that Quay is where he was before the knocking-out took place. He is not only a senator, but is chairman of the repubcan national committee and the recognized eader of the party. THE MCKINLEY BILL is calculated to preent the Indians from investing their capital

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE WESTERN farmers are feeling the contract tion of currency since the war. In the sixtics they made money rapidly, but during recent years it has been a starvation business with them. Mr. E. L. The sentiment in favor of the building of the Forsyth street bridge seems to be unanimous. Everywhere the subject is discussed, and on all sides is the immediate necessity of the bridge urged. The mayor and the council came in for a great deal of commendation for their prompt action in the taking up of the bridge question and in washing it close.

A sixth-ward citizen, who is at the head of a ousehold, said to me yesterday: "Atlanta has grown to almost metropolitan size, and there are some improvements we should make. Among the many evils to be corrected, is what might properly be termed the stale meat nuisance. I believe we ought to have a market. we can't, there should be created an office by the general council to be filled by a man whose duty it will be to inspect daily the meat and fish markets and to condemn all decayed, sour or stale meats o

"This is a crying need. There are some eighty retailers of meat in the city and all of them would be benefited by the rigid enforcement of a proper sanitary law of inspection. It would be better for all parties, consumer, middleman, butcher and wholesaler if it were understood once for all that no sour or stale meat or fish could

A tour among a half score of meat shops develuch an ordinance, and a talk with a prominent physician developed the fact that impure meats and fish were the prolific sources of much disease

"By all means," the doctor said, "let us agitate the subject of the appointment of a reliable and skilled inspector. We want a man, too, who can-not be bought off, but will rigidly condemn bad meat wherever he finds it. Again there are many of these places where filth is allowed to accumu late and in warm weather this soon af-fects meat. An inspector should pay a daily visit to all of these places, have them kept clean and pure and sweet and unhesitatingly con demn every piece of meat or fish which is not

Other large cities have an inspector of this kind and the good which has resulted therefrom is too obvious to need comment.

All this could be brought about by a market, or There was a market commission-But that has passed into history.

Speaking of city improvements, what has me of those much-talked-about city scales? If there is any one thing needed—and there seems to be several—it is a system of city scales, to insure full weights on coal and other commodities sold by weight. The people feel the lack of them most in the fifteen-hundred-pound tons of coal they not infrequently purchase. Several times they not infrequently purchase. Several times have movements toward the establishment of these scales been inaugurated, but just as often have they suffered early death.

A Spring street citizen thinks the paving being standard required.

Colonel E. K. Chamberlin, of the Ruttan-Smead Company, south, stopped in Atlanta yes-terday on his way back to Anniston from Dur-

"You have no idea how much the work in the assessor's office has increased during the past eight years," remarked Major Cook, the genial ookkeeper of the assessor's office, yesterday.
"What's the cause of it?"

"Well, the number of taxpayers in 1870 was 1,284, and the general tax was $107,315.16, and in 1890 the number of taxpayers was 11,792, and the general tax was $672,132.94, showing an increase in the revenue on general tax alone in the last twenty years of $564,817.78. Every day new faces are in the tax office asking about Atlanta dirt. Ten years ago I knew nearly every man, woman and child in the city, but now I often feel like a stranger, so many new people do I run across. The people of Atlanta pay tax on $42,635,970. I mean the city actually gets returns on that much, and this is probably several m less than it really ought to be."

Explaining that last remark, the major said: "Real estate is rising so rapidly that where the assessors assess a piece of property, say at $10,000, the same piece might sell shortly afterwards at $25000. Only recently Whitehall streetiproperty sold for nearly twice as much as it was assessed for."

"In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred property "In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred property would bring on sale 20 per cent more than the assessors assess it for. There is no doubt about it in the world in my mind, but theipopulation of Atlanta has increased 20,000 since the Piedmont exposition opened. It did our people a vast amount of good and has certainly been the means of augmenting our population to a wonderful extent. It has brought laborers, mechanics and capitalists. The first have secured ready employment, and the capitalists have taken the advantage of our inducements and are investing largely in real estate and other things."

He Writes a Short Sketch of His Life for The itution—Interesting Incidents from a Long and Eventful Life.

GRIFFIN, Ga., January 23.-[Special.]-The story of a long life is always interesting, but it s seldom that one is so graphically told, as the following, by Judge John Stilwell, of Spald-

I was born in Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, December 23, 1806, of poor, but respectable parents. My father was a devout Methodist and was for a long time class leader on account of his eminent piety. My mother was of good stock; her maiden name was Houston. She was of Irish descent, and was a distant relative of Sam Houston, of Texas fame. I thought when a boy that she was a model woman, and have never had reason to modify that opinion. If I had followed her counsel I would have made few mistakes in

HIS FAMILY LIFE. I had three brothers. On reaching their ma-jority they left home to strike out and make their own fortunes in the world. I remained at home. My father had a large family and owned but 100 acres of poor land Of this nearly the whole of it was cleared and badly worn out, and the was quite an invalid and hence could work but little. With these surroundings I could see but little prospect of a support, much less an opportunity for riches.

Notwithstanding I determined to remain, but said nothing to my father about it. I worked for two years just as if I had been of non-age, and then remained five years more, getting such jobs as I could find that I might be able to take care of the old people.

My mother always told me that everything would work out all right; "that character was capital." I found out that she spake wisely, as the sequel will show.

OUT INTO BUSINESS.

OUT INTO BUSINESS.

It was during this time I was appointed deputy sheriff of the county. In this capacity I made the acquaintance of many people in my native county. I still made my home with my parents, and tried to honor them, which duty is enjoined by the only commandment with distinct promise. I thank God that I honored my father and my mother. The Almighty is as good as his word. I had no capital, so I tried character.

About this time I concluded to try merchan-

About this time I concluded to try merchan About this time I concluded to try merchandising, so I went to the richest man in the county and the largest merchant. He lived in Charlotte, our county town. I told him that if I had a stock of goods I thought I could make some money. The following is a copy make some money. The following is of the letter of credit he gave me. Charlotte, N. C., November 27, 18 bearer, Mr. John Stilwell, is about comb business at Conner's former stand in this 27. 1832.—The have known Mr. Stilwell for five or six and have had a good many transactions with him in my business, in which I have always found him strictly punctual and correct, and am of opinion that he will manage his business with profit. I would not for a moment hesitate to credit Mr. Stilwell for any amount that he in reason would

I have the original of this letter, and have enclosed it in a neat frame for preservation.

I built me a little store at my father's place and went to Charleston, S. C., and bought a nice little stock of goods. Returning home I began business. My success was flattering, and at the end of four years I found that I and at the end of four years I found that had cleared $4,000. As some of my relatives had moved to Georgia, I determined at this time to try my fortune in that grand old state. I could not leave my aged parents, so I obtained their consent to move with me, sold their little home for $300, settled their little debts and moved with them to Georgia. This was in 1836. was in 1836.

I went to McDonough and merchandised there until 1859. I made money rapidly here, and invested in land and negroes. At the outbreak of the war I owned 900 acres of land, between fifty and sixty negroes, besides money and notes.

PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS.

As to my own life it might have been much worthier, though thanks to a kind providence, I have never done an act to shadow my good name. I joined the Methodist church, south, in 1832, and have tried to live an upright and bonest life. I have been found of books, especially of Robert Burns, many of whose poems I can still quote. From childhood I was given to the humorous, and have banished many weary hours by good cheer. I am now in my eighty-fifth year. Most of my early friends are gone. An Immense Egg Farm From the St. Louis Republic.

From the St. Louis Republic.

The Farrallone islands are about thirty miles from the mouth of San Francisco bay, off the coast of California, and are the homes of immumerable sea fowls. When San Francisco first began to blossom out as a city her constant cry was for eggs. There being no poultry raisers on the coast made the egg want one hard to gratify. To supply this want the project of stealing the eggs of the guils and muhrs that nest by the thousand on the Farallone islands was tried, and, proving successful, has ever since been one of the unique west coast industries.

The birds of the island are too plentiful to reven estimate, as may be inferred frought that the egg gatherers often bring megaper day. This, however, gives many of the nests being inaccessible and many others devastated by the rivalry of the birds themselves. The egg business of the islands is conducted by a company, who pay the collectors five cents a dozen for gathering them. The scatter of the from May to August, which, even at 400 dozen at day, makes the annual harvest about 500,000 eggs.

WOMAN IN POLITICS.

In the fall of Bismarck history repeats itself in a very striking way. That fall in not a few of its salient features is identical with the downfall of Cardinal Wolsey. We understand quite well that Wolsey's reluctant sanction of the divorce of Catherine of Spain, offended most grievously the royal Bluebeard of England, and that it oused in Anne Boleyn, the coming favorite, the atmost fury of "a woman scorned." We know indeed that there were other weighty accusations odged against the cardinal, yet these convenient pretexts. His conduct in the matter of Catherine's divorce and the espousal of Anne Boleyn was the "head and front of his offending." Shakespeare dramatized the fickle fortunes of the reat cardinal in a masterly manner and not im bitterly resented the wrong Wolsey had done her beautiful and accomplished mother.

In Henry VIII, as in other of his historical plays the great dramatist made full use of his poetic license, and was as unsparing of facts as he was of the dramatic unities of Aristotle.

We grant that his portraiture of Wolsey is most admirable in style, sufficiently so to satisfy the warmest admirers of that grand man who-"Trod all the paths of glory, And sounded all the depths and shoals of ho The scene in which Wolsey approaches the gates of Leicester Abbey and begs a little earth for pity's sake, is exquisitely touching and doubtless greatly flattered the vanity, and it may be, soothed the resentment of the maiden queen.

The German chancellor has not fallen so low and yet he is essentially a disgraced man. His word is no longer law, and that vast empire which he did more to build up from its original low estate as the duchy of Brandenburg than any other one man, has no official position for him. We speak soberly and advisedly when we say that the of the seven years' war for dent triumphs of Sedan or Gravelotte has made Germany the dominant political power of Europe. Baron Von Moitke's war maps, his unrivaled military transportation and his well-disciplined and well-equipped soldiery were indispensable factors. So, likewise, the hereditary valor of the Hohenzollern and the admirable generalship of the old and new emperor mirable generalship of the old and new emperor mirable generalship of the old and new cannot mirable generalship of the old and new cannot mirable generalship of the old and new cannot were both needed to win the greatest military success of the century. But back of all them lay the statesmanship of Bismarck, without which the German invasion of France would have mided as disastrously as Napoleon's invasion of conded as disastrously as Napoleon's invasion of How came it to pass that Bismarck was hurled may have had their influence, but there is more than a suspicion that womanly vanity had a full share in bringing about the overthrow of the chancellor. The mother of the present emperor is an English princess, not well affected to the traditions of the German fatherland, nor a special favorite with either court or country. It was whispered both before and after her husband's accession to the imperial throne that she viewed Bismarck with pronounced dislike.

From whatever cause, the fall of the chancellor will be more and more regarded as a most notable event of the nineteenth century. Nor do we see any sufficient reason why some future Schiller may not produce a drama founded on Bismarck's checkered career quite as thrilling as Don Carlos or William Tell, and not unlike the story of Wallenstein. It may have less of tracia will be more and more regarded as a most notable event of the nineteenth century. No ein. It may have less of tragic incident, but the "blood and thunder" era has passed away, and the better class of play-goers have outgrown their fondness for such stage literature as made the fortune of playwrights like the German Kotzebue and the English Knowles. Still another illustration of woman as a factor in politics is of quite recent date. We refer to Parnell's loss of the Irish leadership by his alleged criminal connection with the divorced spouse of Captain O'Shea. We have no knowledge of the merits of this issue beyond the columns of the party iournals.

edge of the ments of this issue beyond the col-umns of the party journals.

For a time the scandal was suppressed, except in the gossip of the drawing rooms of London and Dublin—but subsequently it was thoroughly aired by the press, provincial and metropolitan. Henceforth, it was babbled by rumor's thousand tongues, until the brut of it has made the circuit of the clobal. It is no small credit to the British Henceforth, it was babbled by rumor's thousand tongues, until the brut of it has made the circuit of the globe. It is no small credit to the British empire that a party leader must be above suspicion of complicity with so grave an immorality. Gladstone and his liberal following, reinforced by a large majority of the Irish nationatists, were forward to demand his retirement from leadership, respected as Parnell was for ins rare ability and honored for his former fidelity to the cause of home rule. They dared not imperil that sacred cause by condoning his offense. This peremptory demand was seconded by the Irish clergy, led by the archishop of Armagh, the primate of Ireland. Parnell, no whit intimidated by this formidable array of his party friends, made a test of his strength in the Kilkenny election, and was defeated by a heavy majority. His further refusal to obey the behest of his party, as shown by this test vote, but served to emphasize his obstinacy. He has since, however, yielded to the persuasion of friends, and has accepted what has for some while been known to be inevitable. Gladstone has announced that the home rule party is once more squarely on its feet and prepared to push the battle to the gate in defense of its cherished policy. Helen of Troy was no more responsible for the story of the Iliad than the bewitching and dizzy Mrs. O'Shea for this mishap that came near wrecking the hopes of the home rulers for another generation.

THE ADVISORY BOARD PINISHES

The Rifles to Have a New Armory The Veteran Zouaves to Be Guests of the Guard. What the Home Companies are Doing.

The advisory board finished their work yes

The most important thing they did was to formulate the call for bids for the state encamp-

Resolved, That in accordance with the statute Resolved, That in accordance with the statute of Georgia the adjutant and inspector general do call for bids for a camping ground for the Georgia Volunteers, the said bids to be made in writing, not later than February 21st next, addressed to Colonel John McIntoeh Kell, adjutant and inspector general, Atlanta, Ga.

The said bids to show with as much precision as possible the location, dimensions, sanitation, and ther elements of desirability.

The board will particularly consider the healthrulness of the proposed site and surroundings, the water facilities for purposes of cooking, drink-ing, ablution and sanitation. The dimensions and character of the grounds for the location of tents permanent hospital, quartermaster, commissary, and other necessary structures, including a rifle range, and for the movement of troops for pur-poses of drill and ceremonial parades.

poses or drill and ceremonial parades.

The bids must show with as much accuracy as possible the cost to the state for the permanent appropriation and occupation of the site, and the expense of use, annually. From the bids so submitted the board will make a selection in accordance with the statute after personal inspection of the most avilable sites by the advisory bond, or a committee from the same. , or a committee from the same. board reserves the right to reject any and

Another appropriation passed up by the board yesterday was for forty saddles for the Atlanta Artillery. It will be remembered that on the opening day of the exposition the Artillery paraded as unted guard. It was pronounced the handsomest artillery parade ever witnessed in the state. The saddles used upon that occasion were borrowed. Their usefulness suggested the idea of reg-ularly equipping the compony in this way, and it was sanctioned by the board yesterday.

when they will stand at the head of the The Cadets are to have new uniforms, new guns and probably a new armory. Negotiations are now pending for the latter. It has not yet been decided just where it will be situ-

Under the law, hough, this was impossible. Now that the Grady Cadets are to have new accontrements they propose making a present of their guns to the cadets of the university.

This will be a liberal and generous thing on the part of the Cadets, and will solve the difficulty the university boys have experienced of securing proper arms. At present their guns consist of old army muskets, and the splendid

So the Cadets have adopted those colors and will always stick to them, thus ever appearing in mourning for that peer-less man from whom they take their name.

The Rifles' New Armory. The Rifies' New Armory.

The Rifies have been booming all winter. Business meetings are well attended, and Captain Spencer's time at the regular weekly drill is fully occupied instructing new recruits. The boys all take much interest in the welfare of their company.

The Rifies have never been contented with their present armory, and heretofore they have been unable to obtain satisfactory 'quarters' elsewhere. Captain Spencer has been untiring in his efforts since they have been under his command to secure a suitable armory. His elsewhere. Captain Spencer has been untiring in his efforts since they have been under his command to secure a suitable armory. His exertions have at last borne fruit, and the Rifles in the near future will occupy what they consider the handsomest armory in the state. The contract has been closed and they are only awaiting the completion of the building in which it is to be situated.

The armory will be located in the new Venable building on Forsyth street. They have leased the fourth floor of that magnificent granite front for a term of five years, beginning March 1st. In front of the main hall, or drill apartment, there will be a suite of rooms, about 20x25 feet, each elegantly furnished. The window looking on Forsyth street will be a large one of French plate glass. The drill hall will be the largest in the city, 66\(^1\)x173 feet. The ceiling will be of Georgia pine. By March 1st everything will be completed, furniture, carpets, etc., and ready for occupancy. By long odds its will be the finest and most complete armory in Georgia.

The Governor's Horse Guards have been hibernating during the winter, as might be said. Along about the 1st of April, however, they will awake from their present indifference and lassitude, and once more resume active, seldically datice.

During the fall and winter months company meetings have been held only quarterly. The 1st of April, however, will see a resumption of the twice a month call of the muster roll, and once again their headquarters will be a scene of bustle and activity.

At the last quarterly meeting, held the first of this month, the regular annual election of officers was held. The old officers were all re-elected, the company thus testifying their ne s bos The Guard.

The Gate City Guard occupies a rather haique positiou in the military world just at present. Without a capiain and only one commissioned efficer, Lieutenant Goldsmith, the company is decidedly handleapped.

The Gaard had intended to enter the drill at Jackson ville this spring, and the boys were considering the ways and means by which their team would raise the necessary funds for the late of the drill.

On the 15th and 14th of next month, however, the Gate City Guard will receive and startain the Veteran Zouaves, of Elizabeth, I. J. The Zouaves is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, zouave company in the north, having been organized some time before the war. During "the late unpleasantness" they took several cannon from General Gordon's command. From the cannon thus captured they have had made handsome and unique badges as souvenirs. Two years ago, when General Gordon was in Elizabeth, they gave him a royal welcome, and entertained him as their special guest.

They leave Elizabeth, forty strong, with a band of about twenty-five places and thirty-five honorary members, all prominent pro-fessional and business men. The company is on its way to the mardi gras at New Orleans, and proposes stopping at all the principal cities on their route.

It is on their route.

It is on their return trip that they will stop over in Atlanta. The Guard is making full and elaborate arrangements for the reception of their expected guests. This is a token of their appreciation of their reception by the Zouaves when the Guard was north. their appreciation of their receptual Zonaves when the Guard was north.

On the 13th at noon the Zonaves will arrive, and in the afternoon a drive over the city in carriages will be given them. At night a banquet will be spread at the armory for their guests, and a splendid time generally is looked forward to by the soldier boys of the Gate City Chard and their friends.

The Atlanta Zouaves. The Atlanta Zouaves.

The Atlanta Zouaves have been industrious all winter, drilling once every week. If the managers of the Jacksonville drill put up sufficient inducements, in the way of zouave prizes, the Atlanta Zouave company promises to make it warm for their opponents.

At the last meeting of the general council, Mr. Hulsey presented a resolution instructing the street committee to confer with the different constreet committee to conier with the different con-tractors to see if any arrangement can be made by which the city will only be required to pay her proportion in cash on all permanent work; the contractors to take all bills of assessment for the balance, and allow owners of abutting property the privilege of paying the same at their option, in installments, at the rate of 25 per cent per annum, with legal interest off the deferred pay-ments.

annum, with legal interest on the action with ments.

"For some time past," said Mr. Hulsey, "the home owner who is not too well supplied with money, has been crowded to pay the assessment on street paving, sadewalks and curbing. In several instances I have known parties actually compelled to sacrifice their homes in order to pay the bills for these improvements. The i.f.as. iscompelled to sacrifice their homes in order to pay

That has now been removed, and I am for the resolution."

"And why?" he was asked.

"Because it will give the hard working men a chance. Take for instance a young man who buys a home on a street now unimproved. He has his family to care for and before he buys he figures hard to see what he can pay on his home.

"Well, he goes on and pays. Then about the time he begins to feel easy the street is paved, sidewalks are built, and so on. The bills are too big for him to meet, and some one steps in and get his place for—you may say a song. But if that home builder were allowed to pay for that work as the Hulsey resolution will let him, the poor man will be able to save himself."

"But will the contractors submit to it?"

"I have talked to one who has done work for the city, and he is willing to take all the work he can get, as that resolution of Mr. Hulsey indicates. In fact, I've no doubt we can get all the contractors

The Appling Sword of Honor.—The new capitol is completed now, and the Appling sword of honor belongs here in the executive department.

This fact recalls the story of the sword. Daniel Appling was born in Columbia county, Georgia, August 21, 1787. He became a second lieutenant in the United States army May 3, 1808. He steadily rose in rank, and in April, 1814, was major. On the 30th of May, in command of 300 riflemen and Indians, he won a great victory over the British at Sandy Creek, N. Y., capturing the British troops that made an assault upon hum. For this he was brevetted lieutenant colonel. Georgia voted him this sword of honor. It is a magnificent piece of work, 18-karats gold, highly ornamented with original designs. Amongst these is a medallion of Colonel Appling. The sword bears this inscription: "Presented by the State of Georgia to her son, the brave and gallant Lieutenant Colonel Daniel Appling, of the United States army for his cool and deliberate valor, dis-played throughout the action of the 39th of May, 1814, at Sandy Creek, New York, where he sucbeeded in capturing a superior British force."

The sword was voted him in 1814 but was not ready for delivery until the summer of 1817. Mean-while, in March, 1817, Colonel Appling died at Fort Montgomery, Ala. He left no heir to his

The faculty consists of seven earnest, competent teachers.

Every interest of the institute, from its earliest conception, has been heroically promoted and fostered by its worthy president, E. W. Ballenger. Over 100 pupils enrolled the first week, despite the freezing weather.

The school is especially designed for the benefit of the Rome district and contiguous territory. And if supported as it deserves and is anticipated it will not have a superior in north Georgia. The institute is situated in an elevated grove in close view of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, and stands as an object of admiration by the traveling public.

THE FORSYTH STREET BRIDGE. The Specifications Now Being Prepared-

Bids to Be Asked For Hon. J. D. Turner, chairman of the bridge committee, hopes to begin advertising for con-tracts for the Forsyth street bridge next week.

Engineer Clayton is now working on the specifications. The committee will have a meeting Tuesday or Wednesday next, when several designs and plans, which Mr. Clayton is now preparing, will be submitted. The committee has not determined upon any style yet, and will not be able to do so until after the conference with Mr. Clayton. Each member of the committee, however, has declared that noth-

Exchange.

NEW YORK, January 24.—The stock market was a little more active today in the general list, though dull enough, increased animation being accompanied by lower prices, however, throughout almost the entire list. This was evidently a result of disappointment of the holders who have been waiting for a rise in prices. There was less attention paid to Chicago Gas, although it was still one of the leading active stocks and one of special features of the market. London was, if anything, seller in early trading, and traders were inclined to take advantage of this tendency. They first, after heavy opening, attacked Granement, the news of the day being rather of s discouraging character as to the success of association. St. Paul, Atchison, Burlington, Rock Island, Union Paific and some others suffered in turn during the fore noon hours, but more attention was paid to Chicago Gas and Louisville and Nashville in the afternon, the Gas and Louisville and Nashville in the afternon, the rest of the list being quite neglected. A drooping tendency in those stocks became more pronounced in the last hour and both scored material losses. Richmond and West Point was throughout the most active stock and a strong point in the list; buying being stimulated by a rumor that the Gould interest had lately strengthened its position in the company. The industrial stocks outside of Chicago Gas were dull and uninteresting with small fluctuations, although new sugar refining stock declined 1½ and recovered 1 per cent. The market finally closed dull and heavy at cent. The market finally closed dull and heavy at the lowest prices of the day, the entire list being fractionally lower. Sales listed stocks, 157,000 shares; unlisted, 10,000.

NEW YORK, January 23 .- The general condition of dullness continues varied today by a fractional decline in prices with some pressure to sell probably by dis-gusted holders. The sharp decline in Chicago gas in the face of the recent assurances from the insiders that all troubles of the company were at an end has ated some feeling of distrust even in railroad stock greated some feeling of distrust even in railroad stock; and this, added to the general duliness and feeling of uncertainty engendered by the danger of silver legislation has led to a day's selling. It is difficult to venture to predict as money can hardly become easier than it now is; and as that has not yet led to any increase in speculation, we fear that we shall have to await some favorable development to give the market another upward start.

NEW YORK, January 23.—Liverpool was lower and closed easy at about 2-64d decline. At the opening here prices showed but a slight decline, but as they advanced, gradually sold off nearly 8 points, closing, however, very steady at a partial recovery. Reports continue to reach us all the time of the quantity being held back, and there can hardly seem any question of the crop any more. The interior movement today was fully as large as had been expected, and more or less influenced the prices which were made. Trading was very light and without any noticeable feature.

CHICAGO, January 23.—The confident, serene expression of the believers of 30 cent wheat for May delivery is not quite so apparent at the close of today's market, as it was yesterday. At about the opening the local feeling was rather weak a few; holders being somewhat discouraged were free sellers, but as has been noticed the hast ten days, the demand for spot and cash in all the leading markets at home and abroad was good. Receipts at Minneapolis and Day inthe were quite large, but they were anot equal to the demand. Offerings were all taken as a shade better price than yesterday. We notice No. 2 spot wheat in Allwayshee was esting within 1's cents per bushel at the also option, also in New York No. 1 northern and a special most of 75c. over the speculative grade for May delivery. Therefore, the bulls' festure in the

THAT OCCURRED ON THE CESTRAL BAILBOAD AT 2:38 O'CLOCK P. M. Several Were Injured, but None Fatally. Heroic Conduct of Engineer Waterhouse.

THE BAD WRECK

A bad wreck occurred on the Central railroad at Clark's Cove, one mile below East Point, at 2:35 o'clock yesterday after-Six men were injured, but none fatally.

Two engines were smashed to pieces and the escape of the engineers and firemen from instant death was indeed miraculous. The Macon train left the union depot in charge of Conductor Ennis at its usual time, 2:15 o'clock, yesterday afternoon with a full load of passengers. All went well until the vicinity of the Atlanta guano factory, a mile below East Point, was reached.

Almost opposite the factory is a siding upon which the guano cars are stationed. A heavy switch engine was standing on the siding with eight cars loaded with guano attached.

It seems that a switch-hand had been sent ahead of the freight to half turn the switch so as to enable the passenger train to run along on the main line in safety.

Instead of doing so he turned the switch completely around, and the passenger train, booming along at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, left the main track and crashed into

A detailed description can give but a faint idea of what followed.

Engineer Ed Waterhouse, of the passenger train, stuck to his engine and had a marvelous escape from death. He reversed the lever and jammed on the brakes, and then came the and piled together in one great mass while the mail car crashed in on top of them.

Engineer Waterhouse was thrown up in the air and fortunately alighted in an opening just large enough to admit of his body between the boilers of the engine and the forward part

He was scalded on the leg and thigh, and suffered contusions of the head.

J. R. Prater, the fireman, jumped just in time. He is a heavy man, but his only injuries were a spraining of his left hand and arm, and several severe bruises. The force of the collission tore the roof com pletely from the passenger cab. It was thrown high in the air, striking against a telegraph pole and breaking off several feet of the top. The engineer and fireman of the freight engine jumped just in time to save their lives. Two or three of the freight cars next the engine were knocked from the track down an

The escape of the mail and express agents was almost as wonderful as that of the engineer. This car was torn to pieces, but although knocked about a good deal, they were embankment, and the mail car of the passen-

Conductor Ennis, of the passenger, was thrown among some seats in one of the cars and suffered a painful injury to his knee-joint. Henry Bostic, negro, a train hand on the freight, was thrown from a car and sustained George A. All, of Hampton, Ga., was seated near a stove in one of the cars at the time of the accident. The force of the collision threw him violently against the stove, injuring him about the head and chest.

Rev. C. C. Davis, of this city, sustained severe bruises about the chest.

The injured men were carried into the passenger cars and adjoining houses, and tenderly ared for until such time as they could be rought back to the city, and given in charge of the company's surgeon, Dr. Hunter Cooper. J. R. Prater, the fireman, was taken to Providence Infirmary.

E. W. Waterhouse, the brave engineer, was brought to his home, 59 West Mitchell, where his injuries were examined and found to be scalds of the leg and thigh, and contusions of the head. He is not dangerously injured.

Conductor W. H. Ennis was taken to his home, 66 Davis street. Henry Bostic, the negro train hand, was brought to his home, 232 Clark street.

Rev. C. C. Davis was removed to his home No. 27 Tatnall street. George A. All was taken back to his home at

The passengers are loud in their praise of Engineer Waterhouse, who did all that mortal could do to avert the accident. The track was not torn up but was blocked up by the wreck all last night. It was expected that everything would be cleared up and trains runing again this morning.

A SELECT PARTY, Which Is Forming to Take in the Mardi Gras Festivities.

Gras Festivities.

Quite a large number of prominent Atlantians have formed a party to visit New Orleans during Mardi Gras. They will leave here Tuesday, February 9th, at 1:95 o'clock p. m., via the "Old Reliable" route, Atlanta and West Point and Louisville and Nashville roads. Ample sleeping car arrangements have been made. Parties leaving here at 1:95 o'clock p. m., on the 9th, will arrive in New Orleans on the morning of the 10th, in time to see the grand parade of that day. Returning, they can leave New Orleans on the evening of the 13th, or on any day up to the 24th, inclusive. For sleeping car reservations and other particulars, apply to the Atlanta and West Point ticket office, at No. 11 Kimball house. Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Men's meeting tonight at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All men are cordially invited.

AT THE THEATER.

Alvin Joslin.

Rhea, brought out her great historical play, "Jose phine, Empress of the French?" We all knew that he was one of the greatest military tacticians since Cæsar's time; that he sported with crowns and scepters as the baubles of children; that he rode triumphantly to power over the ruins of the thrones with which he strewed his pathway; that vast armies melted before him like wax; that he noved over the earth as a meteor traverses the sky, astonishing and startling all by the sudden-ness and brilliancy of his career; but we did not know the flesh-and-blood man, as created, until he was put upon the stage and was surrounded with the characters who played such important parts in his domestic life. Mr. William Harris will play this strong part in "Josephine," which is soon to be presented here. From all the accounts this actor's make-up as the Little Corporal is one of the most correct and life-like that has ever been seen on the stage.

MR. ANGIER EXPLAINS He Has Something to Say About the Work on the Government Building. Mr. Hugh Angier, superintendent of the work on the United States government building, sends to THE CONSTITUTION office the following card Pendleton F. Fisher, the negro emigrant agent ow under arrest charged under indictment with to The Constitution office the following card relative to a publication concerning the building:
EDITOR CONSTITUTION: The article in yester-day's Constitution headed "A Lagging Contractor," does me a gross injustice. Your reporter did not intend to harm me, but the high federal official of the law department behind him did, which is a great surprise to me, as it is an outrageously unwarranted attack.

The high official may injure me with the administration, with which he perhaps has influence; but in this city, where I was born and reared, he is powerless to harm me.

The delay in finishing the building was caused by the slow process of lowering and hoisting stone, which was done by laborers at the wench, But in view of the fact that the first floor was occupied by the postoffice department and hundreds of people passing in and out continually, it was deemed safest to handle the heavy stones by the slow process of hoisting and lowering.

The rooms below the fourth floor are ready for occupancy, only we are waiting for new carpets. The fourth floor is virtually finished except a few square feet of border for tile work and a few feet of base for wainscoting, all of which will be completed in three days more. The whole building can be cleared of its rubbish, with five laborers, in two days.

It is impossible that the addition on the Marietta street side could have settled without the aid of an earthquake, as the foundation of the building has never been interfered with, and the plastering would show it and not the flooring, as every practical builder well knows.

An elevator, manufactured by the Warner Company, of Cincinnati, has been here two weeks ready to be put in, but the department claims that the contractors must put in an Otis elevator. Hence this delay. elative to a publication concerning the building terward surrendered by his bondsmen and re-

The charge in detail in the indictment is The charge in detail in the indictment is that the prisoner and other persons named acted in the capacity of emigrant agents by soliciting persons to leave the state, without having first procured from the tax collector of the county a license therefor, and without going before the ordinary of Fulton county and registering their names and business, all of which is contrary to the laws of the state.

The petitioner says the courts of the state have no jurisdiction to try him for the offense alleged against him in the indictment, and that the proceedings pending against him in the state court are null and void.

He asks for his reiease, therefore, on the ground that he is confined and held in imprisonment without law or right, and in violation of the constitution and laws of the United States.

The case will come up before Judge Newman on Monday.

small amount of work yet to be done is sufficient.

It took five years to complete the original building, and it is no fault of mine that the contractors agreed to tear down and enlarge the building in one year. I was confident when I saw the plans that it would take two years, and I don't believe there is a federal building in the land that cost $120,000 that was completed in less than two years. Messrs. Thomas & Driscoll have nothing to do with the new heating apparatus, and the department, if called to account, could no doubt answer satisfactorily for that delay.

As to poor workmanship, none but the most skilled labor has been employed. I have been a close observer of buildings in every large city throughout this great land, and in every capital in Europe, from Madrid to St. Petersburg, and Constantinople to London, and the work in every line in this building will compare favorably with that of other buildings of the same importance elsewhere. However, there are inspectors above me who have passed upon the work.

I most respectfully implore my distinguished and learned friend of the law to devote the same time and attention to his department that I do to mine; which, if he will do, he will not find time to complain of other departments, and above all, I pray he will not let his animus extend to a whole family of brothers, not one of whom ever did him a wrong. Such a spirit is unkind in the extreme.

ATLANTA IS HEALTHY AND THAT IS ONE OF THE REA-

The Southern Headquarters of the Edison Company Were Removed Here from New Orleans-A Big Concern.

"We wanted to locate in a healthy city, growing and progressive besides."
That is what Mr. C. G. Chinnock said yes terday in reply to a question from a Constitu-TION reporter. Mr. Chinnock is district manager of the Southern District Electric Company, of New York, the headquarters of which have just been removed from New Orleans to Atlanta. "A place," he continued, "where we could remain all the year round, where we wouldn't have to leave our business two or three months every year on account of the climate."

This speaks volumes for Atlanta. The southern district of the Edison Company, of which Mr. Chinnock is the able and affable general manager, comprises eleven southern states, and the business transacted is

Georgia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi. Louis-iana, Texas and Indian Territory, are the

Out of all these Atlanta was chosen for the location of the headquarters.

Because Atlanta is the healthiest, most progressive and most desirable in all of them. Mr. Chinnock and his associates, Mr. G. W. Brink, district auditor, and Mr. O. D. Lundy, district engineer, are delighted with their new location

From a business standpoint, the location of the office here is a great acquisition to Atlanta's commercial importance. Besides the gentlemen mentioned, the office will employ about thirty-five clerks and other These, with their families, will make Atlanta their home.

Mr. Chinnock stated that the pay roll of the department as it now stands amounts to $85,-000 per annum. This will increase naturally as the business grows.

So Atlanta grows. Already the company is fitting up a com-modious suite of offices in the Traders' bank building. When these are in order the force from New Orleans will arrive. This will be

by the first of next week. The Edison company does a general electrical business, furnishing light and power of all description, from running street railways to furnishing motors for soda founts or fly

An extensive plant will be built. In fact, work has already been commenced on this, it being the plant that is to furnish power for the Atlanta and McPherson barracks electric line. The local business of the company will still remain in charge of Mr. Slatterly, who has represented the Edison company in the past.

She Was Sick But Twenty Minutes. Six years have passed since my first confinement, at which I suffered both long and intensely. This time, although I had used only one bottle of Mothers' Friend, I suffered scarcely any pain, and was not sick more than twenty minutes, and did not afterward experience that weakness usual in such cases.

When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with ITCHING AND BURNING ECZEMAS and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases, none but mothers realize. To know that a single application of the Cuticura Remedies will, in the great majority of cases, afford instant and complete relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because so speedy) cure, and not to use them without a moment's delay, is to be guilty of positive inhumanity. No greater legacy can be bestowed upon a child than a skin without blemish and a body nourished with pure blood.

Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies, are absolutely pure, and may be used from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success.

TREATMENT. - CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, externally, instantly allay the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal raw and irritated surfaces, clear the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and speedily restore the hair, while CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause.

"All about the Blood, Skin, Scalf, and Hare" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to mothers, affording information not obtainable elsewhere.

Cuticura Remedies are sold everywhere. Price, Cuticura, 500.: Cuticura Soap, 250.: Cuticura Resolvent, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston.

Facial Blemishes, pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin and hands, and simple humors most effective of all Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, the celebrated Cutlcura Soap. Incomparably superior to all other skin and complexion soaps, while rivalling in delicacy and purity the most expensive of toollet and nursery scaps. The only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most facial blemiches. Sale greater than the combined sale of all other skin scaps. Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.

ATLANTA IS HEALTHY

AND THAT IS ONE OF THE REA-

The Southern Headquarters of the Edison Company Were Removed Here from New Orleans—A Big Concern.

"We wanted to locate in a healthy city, growing and progressive besides. That is what Mr. C. G. Chinnock said yesterday in reply to a question from a Constitu-

Mr. Chinnock is district manager of Northern District Electric Company, of New York, the headquarters of which have just been removed from New Orleans to Atlanta.

"A place," he continued, "where we could remain all the year round, where we wouldn't have to leave our business two or three months every year on account of the climate."

This speaks volumes for Atlanta. The southern district of the Edison Com pany, of which Mr. Chinnock is the able and affable general manager, comprises eleven southern states, and the business transacted is

Georgia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi. Louis-iana, Texas and Indian Territory, are the states included.

Out of all these Atlanta was chosen for the location of the headquarters.

Because Atlanta is the healthiest, most prog-essive and most desirable in all of them Mr. Chinnock and his associates, Mr. G. W. Brink, district auditor, and Mr. O. D. Lundy, district engineer, are delighted with their new location.

From a business standpoint, the location of the office here is a great acquisition to Atlanta's commercial importance.

Besides the gentlemen mentioned, the office will employ about thirty-five clerks and other

These, with their families, will make Atlanta their home.

Mr. Chinnock stated that the pay roll of the department as it now stands amounts to $85,-000 per annum. This will increase naturally as the business grows.

So Atlanta grows. Already the company is fitting up a com-modious suite of offices in the Traders' bank building. When these are in order the force from New Orleans will arrive. This will be

by the first of next week. The Edison company does a general electrical business, furnishing light and power of all description, from running street railways to furnishing motors for soda founts or fly

An extensive plant will be built. In fact, work has already been commenced on this, it being the plant that is to furnish power for the Atlanta and McPherson barracks electric line. The local business of the company will still remain in charge of Mr. Slatterly, who has represented the Edison company in the past. Salvation Oil, the great pain-remedy, fills a long felt need. A first-class liniment for 25c.

When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with ITCHING AND BURNING ECZEMAS and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases, none but mothers realize.

To know that a single application of the Cuticura Remedies will, in the great majority of cases, afford instant and complete relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because so speedy) cure, and not to use them without a moment's delay, is to be guilty of positive inhumanity. No greater legacy can be bestowed upon a child than a skin without blemish and a body nourished with pure blood.

Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies, are absolutely pure, and may be used from infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success.

TREATMENT. - CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, externally, instantly allay the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal raw and irritated surfaces, clear the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and speedily restore the hair, while CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause.

"ALL ABOUT THE BLOOD, SKIN, SCALP, AND HAR" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to mothers, affording information not obtainable elsewhere.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 500.; CUTICURA SOAP, 250.; CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, BOSTOR.

Facial Blemishes, pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin and hands, and simple humors most effective of all Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, the celebrated Cutlcura Soap. Incomparably superior to all other skin and complexion soaps, while rivalling in delicacy and purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most facial blemishes. Sale greater than the combined sale of all other skin soaps. Sold throughout the world. Price, 25c.
